W. E. WARREN

NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE having completed the twelfth year of its existence on the 9th of April, signified its return into its enlarged ram of its borders, adding fully one-third area, and which will require an additional payment for the white paper on which it is printed than all we receive from its subscribers. And, ample as our income has been, yet less ample than it has been currently reported, our cultures for the next year must be larger than our earnings have ever yet been.

We have taken this present step without reluctance, but up to the moment of iteration.

There are thirteen of us concerned in the establishment as proprietors with one hundred and seventy more employed on the paper—all to be submitted on the strength of our income—and this enlargement costs us $50,000 per annum to our expenses without necessitarily increasing our rates. Yet we encounter so many obstacles in the small type print, bad for the eyes, &c., that we have resolved to fall on the enterprise making paper which will satisfy thousands who have Elberto Steadwood, and so enter into Subscription and Advertising as to secure us a reward in exertions in the future equal to that we have enjoyed hitherto. If we can add one-fourth to our reading matter, augment the whole in fair, clear type of good size, we believe may nearly double our circulation; and this, though offering advantage to us, secures such an increase of our advertising as will leave nothing to expense, shall see fit to apply it.

The Weekly Tribune will be enlarged to the new size of the daily, and we urge our try friends who have to daily mail, or think they cannot afford a daily paper, to give this an examination. We strongly endorse the largest possible amount of useful interesting matter into our Weekly; yet it is physically possible that we should print more than one-third of our issue from Europe, America, India, California, Mexico, Oceania, &c. &c. All these are given in our weekly. There is not another paper issued in the world which costs so large an amount of mainly original reading in small type, and we trust that, since postage has been raised to a mere bagatelle, there are thousands of our friends throughout the country who will subscribe to our weekly. We will send specimen to any one without soliciting us to expense, shall see fit to apply it.

The Weekly Tribune will also be enlarged to the new size of the Daily in September, at the expense of its current volume. It will then be larger Weekly.

Cost $1 per annum in third, and less per copy, &c.

not nearly or quite all that we receive from our Subscribers.

We shall hope to pay by our advertising a small part of the new space we create. A considerable portion of the new space will be devoted to the newspaper, and contains most of the material of the Daily.

Our customers will always find W. H. OWEN, ready to wait on them.

"LIGIST." Such is the true meaning of the word Peppermint.

It is the chief solvent, or great digesting principle of the Gastric Juice—the solvent of the food, the purifying, preserving, and stimulating agent of the stomach and intestines. It is extracted from the digestive stomach of the ox, thus forming a true digestive fluid, precisely like the natural Gastric Juice in its chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it.

This is Nature's own remedy for an unhealthy stomach. No one can equal its curative powers. It contains no alcohol, bitter, balsam, acids, or noxious drugs. It is extremely agreeable to the taste, and may be taken by the most feeble patients who
